

Reader Comments (27)

Tiu · 17 days ago

Interesting times...

"Numerous reports are now circulating claiming that United States Army Major General Roger L. Cloutier has been CAPTURED by Russian forces in or around Mariupol, Ukraine where, the reports claim, he was helping the AZOV Battalion which is Ukraine's official NAZI unit."

[\[Link\]](#)

redrock12 · 17 days ago

Tiu I hope it's true. I also hope the Russians give him the same kind of justice they give the members of the azov battalion.

redrock12 · 17 days ago

Thanks for this article SOTT. Very informative. I have NO respect for Nato, when they train radicals like the azov battalion how to brutally use civilians (aka urban warfare) to further their evil agendas. In fact, Nato is a purely evil entity itself for engaging and training extremists and psychopaths in this kind of warfare. It's about time the truth comes out about the true nature of our governing and military elites.

ReRan · 17 days ago

Great read. How will it all end?

BEVAN

"What makes

Iraq, the conflict in Ukraine more blameworthy than our wars in Palestine, Afghanistan or Libya? What sanctions have we adopted against those who deliberately lied to the international community in order to wage unjust, unjustified and murderous wars?....Have we adopted a single sanction against the countries, companies or politicians who are supplying weapons to the conflict in Palestine, Yemen, considered to be the "worst humanitarian disasters in the world?"

BEVAN · 15 days ago

To ask the question is to answer it... and the answer is not pretty.

Xerox · 13 days ago

Yuzivska gas field has US$67 trillion dollars worth of natural gas (called "tight gas") it is not easily recoverable but it can be fracked and that technology is well-developed now. It is the second or third largest natural gas field in Europe and has not been heavily developed as shortly after its desiccovery in 2010.

There were Chevron, Shell + anglo-american, ukraininan, israeli oligarchs

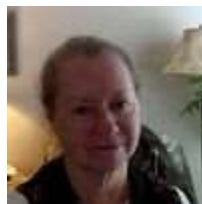

[\[Link\]](#)

So this was American plan: Cut Russia's supply of gas to Europe and supply EU from Yuzivska which would be under anglo-american empire control.

Winternights3 · 13 days ago

It's no more than well timed distraction.

katesisco · 13 days ago

This blindingly accurate description was so needed to combat the political saturation on the front pages of national news here in the US. These 'mistakes' in war are every more frequent, like the bombing of the Syrian dam supposedly off limits, and the deliberate murder by drone attack on the engineers who saved the Tabqua dam.

Yes, the population was armed as a target. Shame on the despicable coward who set civilians as targets.

This sleight-of-hand substituting civilians for armed military is now nearly complete. The military intends to fight with drones overhead eliminating opposition to government action aided and abetted by out of the country forces who gain by winnowing the ownership of land on the ground.

Pakistan's pomegranate orchards are now owned by British conglomerates. Afghanistan orchards were razed to the ground by hired Saudis forces. In the United States, as few as 4 major companies control the production of meat.

Jobs are few, benefits scarce, affordable home ownership non-existent yet we are told to vote as if it could matter. Pensioned gov workers now glean homes in small communities to the welcome arms of local governments, eliminating generation wealth of families without options. The future is for the few.

Winternights3 · 13 days ago

Ukraine is yet another demonstration of destabilisation with land grab as the false narrative.

A red herring that wafts the stench of uncertainty.

It's a Broadway play that no longer attracts it's audience.

A Reader · 8 days ago

Fact Check-NATO chief Cloutier not captured in Ukraine

[\[Link\]](#)

codis · 8 days ago

A Reader

Fact Check Gatekeeping -NATO chief Cloutier not captured in Ukraine ...

I corrected that for you.

HashAttack2 · 7 days ago

codis A NATO spokesperson said he wasn't there, so we can be sure that there are no "command" personnel in Ukraine ... Unfortunately the Lt General is unavailable and unable to comment at this time

The Lt. General was not captured in Ukraine, nor are there any NATO Allied Land Command personnel on the ground in Ukraine, a (NATO) spokesperson told Reuters.

Jacques Baud former NATO, UN official says West inflaming Ukraine tensions

codis · 7 days ago

HashAttack2 By the way, there is a famous quote from a German politician, which translates to " I give you my word of honor ! ". One day after he officially made that statement, he was proven beyond doubt to have lied.

And a few days later, he was found dead in bathtub in a Geneva hotel, drugged and in full clothes - obviously suicide.

Strange things happen to important people that forget their part of the script ...

codis · 7 days ago

HashAttack2 And by the way ...

If there is no Nato personnel in the Ukraine, the Russians can go ahead and flood the Azov steelworks in Mariupol.

MisterA · 8 days ago

Does anyone have a stance on the conspiracy theorist claims against Jacques Baud for some of his statements in the past were made?

codis · 8 days ago

MisterA Where is Tiffany Dover ?

Two · 8 days ago
Truth is always ago

upright, straight and can stand the test of time.
Thank you so much for this piece of truth.

Two · 8 days ago

And people has gone as far as making [\[Link\]](#) songs calling Putin a killer

eljones@ieee.org · 7 days ago

Where is the Marshal Ustinov?

austral · 7

You've got it words are love.

days ago

totally wrong Jacques Baud. You have theories for everything. Your nonsense, just good for a conspiracy theory that the Russians will Putin laughs with the Minsk Agreement. His demilitarization and denazification are just jokes. That you as an ex-intelligence officer don't know better, makes a joke of you too.

The real and only reason of this war is explained in this article: [\[Link\]](#)

Ukraine had to be the first move in the creation of Putin's new EurAsian Empire. No more, no less, Ukraine had to be the breadbasket of the empire. And, Putin would then not only control energy, but also the food to the world.

So please Jacques Baud, do your homework better. I hope you don't get paid by the Russians since you became independent. And stop inventing creepy conspiracy theories.

Cheers!

HashAttack2 · 6 days ago

austral Oh dear ... not many on here will be reading that article

The revelations about Russian involvement in the hacking of the Democratic Party officials, intending to vault Trump over Clinton

BEVAN BEVAN · 5 days ago

austral Have read your link; the theories and processes it prescribes and supports are more accurately comparable to those being followed, sanctioned and instructed by the Jewish texts, the intention of which is to render all non-Jewish Nations to a state of confusion, self-doubting and critical ungovernability, thus rendering them unable to resist or defend against the plan to create their "Greater Israel" and subsequent subservience of all not being or belonging to "The Chosen". These intentions are clearly published by their own hands, they are not secret;

neither is this post Antisemitic, it simply describes what they themselves publish, it is also not my opinion. So, good luck to them, since the Goy is too stupid or ignorant to prevent it. Shalom.

Gail S • 7 days ago

While I would recommend reading this piece with some critical thinking as well, providing a link that begins with a load of crap and continues from there is hardly a reasonable response. The piece you link to uses the Daily Mail of all crap as a source which in turn is using unidentified intelligence sources. Anyone with a brain would throw that right out. If Putin intended to conquer Ukraine, he provided a pretty bad military strategy to do so.

HashAttack2 • 6 days ago

Gail S It sad that people still give credence to such articles - Ignorance is a choice

YO MAMA • 4 days ago

So I see

some think Rueter's tells the truth? How strange that the Commander is "unavailable" for comment. STOP DRINKING THE KOOL-AID FOLKS...

THE US DOES HAVE "UNOFFICIAL BOOTS ON THE GROUND" CONFIRMED BY REPORTERS THAT ARE NOT ON THE DEMOCRATS PAYROLL. Please... it would be nice to see some smarts from people instead of blind stupidity of the sheep.

YO MAMA • 4 days ago

/french-reporter-who-signed-up-as-a-volunteer-in-ukraine-was-shocked-to-find-that-the-ukrainian-forces-were-unofficially-being-led-by-american-commanders this site will not allow links.. but this is VALID PARTIAL LINK.... TO PROVE THERE ARE USA BOOTS ON THE GROUND.

Slavko • about 4 hours ago

Jacques Baud's account represents a preposterous conspiratorial view. His argumentation is so full of holes I don't know where to begin. It is a sickening attempt to rationalize the ongoing genocide in Ukraine. He comes across as a well-paid Kremlin troll. I will comment at random on some points he raises.

1. Throughout the narrative, Baud makes the grave error of conflating "Russian-speakers" with Russians. Nearly ninety percent of Ukrainians speak Russian, and almost all hate Russia, as do many Russians (which comprise only between 12 to 15 percent of the population) living in Ukraine. Mariupol, for example, a Russian-speaking port city has put up the staunchest resistance.

2. The language argument is a fake one. The Russian language was never “severely repressed” anywhere, not even in Kyiv. While Ukrainian was the official language, Russian was tolerated as a second administrative language.

3. Baud suggests that the “maidan revolution” was instigated by Americans. That is plain BS; it was a grassroots movement through and through. I knew many who were there.

4. He argues that Russia did not supply weapons and military equipment to Donbas separatists. Had he not heard of Russian-made Buks that brought down flight MH 17? Besides, Ukraine lost control of the porous border, allowing for undetected free movement of troops and weapons. No Russian troops were seen because, like the “little green men” in Crimea, they did not wear identifying insignia. Of course, they were Russian.

5. The Minsk agreement was imposed on Ukraine, and wisely they rejected it because it would have meant a permanent fifth column in Ukraine and a slow suicide for the Kyiv government.

6. In 2014, Ukraine did not have an army to speak of, and the Ukrainian government resorted to paramilitary units as an emergency measure to prevent complete collapse. To stick the Nazi label on these units (funded at the time by a Jewish oligarch Kolomoisky) is as ludicrous as Putin’s use of the term “denazification” to cleanse Ukraine of Nazis whose president is Jewish.

7. The idea that NATO was/is a threat to Russia is preposterous. Putin knew that NATO was a paper tiger, and not even he believed it posed a threat to Russia. Putin’s motive was to use that argument to incorporate Ukraine into Russia.

8. The invasion of Ukraine is a third attempt to eradicate Ukrainians during the last ninety years. The first took place in 1932/33, the second after WWII in Western Ukraine, and now the third. In Putin’s twisted mind and a totally moronic interpretation of history, Ukrainians do not exist, but if they do, they must be exterminated. The UN convention calls it a genocide.

9. The statement that “we” are pushing Ukrainian citizens to fight Vladimir Putin’s Russia is as valid as the notion of Russians liberating Ukrainians from Nazis. Ukrainians have been struggling to be free of Russia for over 300 years. 10. Baud’s diatribe is fatally flawed because he does not cite any Ukrainian language sources.